THE FUTURE AS IT HAPPENS

DEC 09 £3.90 wired.co.uk

PLUS: SCIENCE CORRUPTED / TWITTER EXPOSED / POLAROID REBORN

Multi-touch workmate

Medion The Touch X9613 PC
Try giving your presentations a new lease of life – abandon projectors and embrace touch. Medion's latest employs a multi-touch screen – using both hands to zoom in and out of Bing Maps feels fluid and natural. You also get a 61cm display, Blu-ray playback, TV tuner and Windows 7. £1,750 medion.co.uk

Model meeting space

Habitat Lagon glass worktop / Nic trestles / Hamilton chairs
Despite their slender appearance, the Nic steel trestles and Lagon's toughened-glass top make a solid proposition. Usefully, they are easy to pack away for office parties. The Hamilton chairs are strong, light and have leather upholstery. £169/£59/£129 habitat.co.uk

Conference call for free

Ipevo X1-N6 Internet Conferencing Station
VOIP calls save companies money. The Skype-certified X1-N6 helps you have a virtual meeting without any specialist equipment needed – just free-to-download Skype and a spare USB port on your PC or Mac. The 360° microphone reception gives everyone at the table an equal voice. £100 ipevo.com

For that paperless office

Sony Reader Touch Edition
The first generation of e-readers had clunky button-driven interfaces. Sony's Touch Edition brings tactility back to reading with its touchscreen. There's room for around 350 titles on the internal memory, and you can add capacity via the Memory Stick Duo and SD card slots. £250 sony.co.uk

Warm or cool LED illumination

Koncept IceLight LED desk lamp
The IceLight's diffused illumination is better suited to a large table than the Humanscale Element's more concentrated beam. There's a four-stage dimmer switch, plus a choice of two heads; Daylight White for clear light to work by, or Warm White for a cosier atmosphere. $180 koncepttech.com
